THE NEW TIMETABLE By Mischa Lomax

I was 12 when I came to Maywood School, three years ago. Like most schools in the USA, classes began at 8:00 a.m. But the headteacher, Mr. Bergman, thought there was a problem, because so many students missed the first class or arrived late. My classmates and I often found it hard to keep our eyes open in the mornings, so lessons were not fun for us. Our marks weren't brilliant.

In the end, Mr. Bergman asked the school doctor for advice. The doctor explained that because teenagers' bodies are growing so quickly, they need more sleep than adults and children. But their body clocks make it hard for them to go to bed before 11 p.m., so the best time for them to wake up is around 8.00 a.m.

Mr. Bergman decided to try an experiment. He changed the start time for lessons to 9.00 a.m. The school still opened at 8.00 a.m. and teachers used the extra hour for preparing lessons.

I didn't think the new timetable was going to work, but I was wrong. I felt much better! Everybody's marks got better and we all felt more healthy. Also more students had time for a hot breakfast together in the cafeteria. After three months, everybody was happy about this change!

Choose the best subtitle for each paragraph. There are two extra titles you do not need to use.

- a. The new school
- b. The problem
- c. Let's try it!
- d. It worked!
- e. The doctor's explanation
- f. Free time

Are the following statements T (True) or F (False)? Justify your choice.

- a. The headmaster was worried because the teachers arrived late for lessons. F

Because many students missed the first class or arrived late.

- b. Mischa and her friends didn't enjoy their lessons because they were tired. _____

- c. The doctor told Mr. Bergman that teenagers work too hard. _____

- d. During the experiment classes began later. _____

- e. More students had breakfast in the cafeteria because it was more healthy. _____

- f. At the end of the experiment everyone liked to start classes at 9:00.
